

Carole Lee Ferguson Named Stock Show Queen

THIS WAS THE LINEUP of 14 contestants for Stock Show Queen Monday night, appearing on the Coliseum stage first in swimsuits. Left to Right: Dot Callanen, Miss Pulaski County; Betty Galloway, Miss Lafayette County; May Margaret Hixon, Miss Clark County; Shirley Buchanan, Miss Ouachita County; Joyce Lenderman, Miss Montgomery County; Betty Dyer, Miss Howard County; Connie Trammel, Miss Little River County; Carole Lee Ferguson, Miss Miller County; Linda Vaughn, Miss Hot Springs County; Mary Ann Hall, Miss Hempstead County; Martha Pry, Miss Nevada County; Mickey Lambert, Miss Union County; Harriet Lindsay, Miss Polk County; and Carol Hignight, Miss Pike County. Seated at the organ is Luther Holloman.

AND HERE IS HOW the girls from 14 of the district's 18 counties looked on the same stage in evening gowns.

MARILYN SUE TOLLETT of Nashville, last year's Show Queen, left; Carole Lee Ferguson of Texarkana, the new Miss Lone Star District; and Chester H. Lauck of Houston, world-famous as 'Lum' of the Lum & Abner radio show, who used to call Pine Ridge and Mena his home towns — and who kept last night's crowd laughing as master of ceremonies. Mr. Lauck today is an executive of the Continental Oil Co.

Violence in Lone Star Steel Strike

LONE STAR, Tex. (AP)—An estimated 2000 strikers threw rocks and bottles and kept the midnight shift from going to work at the Lone Star Steel plant by forming a human chain around the entrances today.

Texas Ranger (Red) Arnold called to the scene, said the Rangers had been ordered to clear the strikers from company property.

E. D. Germany plant president, said no one was hurt trying to get in but he said numerous bottles and rocks were thrown by the pickets at autos of persons trying to enter the gates.

Highway patrolmen cleared pickets from in front of the plant yesterday the company said, after it obtained a restraining order against striking workers. But they returned last night.

L. D. Webster Lone Star vice president, said about 75 per cent of the 2500 striking steelworkers were members of Local 4131. The East Texas plant employs about 4500.

Guard Federalized by President, Ordered to Force L.R. Integration

McClellan Says Ike Wrong in Troop Action

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) today said Mr. Eisenhower's historic order may set off "more trouble than it will prevent." He added:

"I regret the planned use of force to enforce integration. I believe it to be without authority of law, and very apprehensive that such action may precipitate more trouble than it will prevent."

ATLANTA (INS) — Sen. Herman E. Tamm (D-Ga.) today compared President Eisenhower's use of federal troops in Little Rock Ark., with the Russian suppression of the Hungarian revolt last year.

In a statement issued in Atlanta Tamm said:

"We still mourn the destruction of the sovereignty of Hungary by Russian tanks and troops in the streets of Budapest. We are now threatened with a spectacle of the President of the United States using tanks and troops in the streets of Little Rock to destroy the sovereignty of the State of Arkansas."

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said today "every American citizen who believes in government by law should support President Eisenhower in the civil rights crisis."

Morse often a sharp critic of the administration, said Mr. Eisenhower's warning that he would use force if necessary is "a constitutional and needed exercise of his presidential duties."

In a statement Morse added: "It is time for the South to face up to the fact that it belongs to the union and comply with the constitution of the United States."

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson today ordered all Arkansas National Guardsmen to hold themselves in readiness for possible service in Little Rock.

Wilson's order, formally placing the state's militia under federal control instructed guardsmen to await further orders from Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker on which units should report for active duty.

The defense secretary acted at 2:25 p.m. (EDT) on the authority of the order issued earlier by President Eisenhower to put the Arkansas Guard into federal service.

Brucker immediately put in a telephone call to Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas to notify him that both the Army and Air National Guards in Arkansas are now under federal command.

Wilson's order also authorized Brucker to use any regular army troops from any state if he considers they are necessary to prevent the obstruction of racial integration in Central high school.

A top Pentagon spokesman said he expects that regular troops "as well as the guardsmen will be used."

Fair Weather in Most of Nation

By The Associated Press
Fair weather prevailed in the major part of the country today. It was a little cool in most of the Eastern section of the country and mild in Western areas.

There were a few wet spots, mainly in the Gulf Coast and the Northeast. Rain also fell in eastern Texas and parts of southern Louisiana. Scattered showers sprinkled northern Minnesota and eastward across the North Great Lakes region into the North Atlantic States.

Methodists Plan Promotion Sunday

Promotion Sunday will be observed at the Methodist Church September 29 at 8:30 o'clock when all parents will meet in the department rooms of their children for a brief program.

At 8:50 all children to be promoted will move with their parents to their new department where they will be greeted by their new teachers. Then at 9 o'clock a formal promotion service for the older pupils will be conducted in the sanctuary with the minister, Rev. Virgil D. Keesley, and the Church School Superintendent, Mr. Albert Graves, in charge of the program.

Thousands See Parade as Stock Show Starts

A huge parade formally opened the Third District Livestock Show here at 2:30 yesterday and was followed by a beauty pageant in the Coliseum last night which was well attended and has to be rated one of the best shows of the entire week-long event.

Tuesday's program calls for continued judging of livestock which got underway yesterday. Aberdeen Angus, Jersey Cattle, Guernsey and Holstein Friesian Cattle will be judged today.

Tonight the feature attraction will be a Radio and TV show which promises to be the best to show here. Master of Ceremonies will be Bob McFadden, widely acclaimed comedian. Other acts include Le Marx and Billie, a unique novelty juggling act; Howard and Wanda Bell, acrobats in the modern manner; Elizabeth and Collins, who will thrill everyone with a knife throwing act; Al Antonio's Chimpanzees which is tops in entertainment for all ages and others. This stage show starts promptly at 8 o'clock.

Show officials announced this morning that the midway would be in full swing tonight. Unfortunately the carnival was unable to set up for last night's show.

PARADE WINNERS
Yesterday's parade attracted thousands of persons and featured everything needed to make a wonderful parade. The judges announced the various winners as:

CIVIC FLOATS: 1. Prescott B&W Club; 2. Terra-Firma Garden Club of Nashville; 3. Hope Lions Club; 4. Hope Kiwanis Club.

SCHOOL FLOATS: 1. Laneburg, 2. Pleasant Home 4-H (Pike County); 3. Spring Hill School; 4. Cub Scouts of Hope.

PETS: Linda Lou Cobb, 2. Joyce Collier.

DECORATED BICYCLES, 1. Garland Ray Bright, Sandra Turner and Billy Elter. Other winners were entries 3-1-6-7-8-9.

COLORADO FLOATS: Oak Grove, 2. Elementary Hope, 3. Lincoln High of Washington.

At last night's beauty show was something to see. Fourteen lovelies from various sections of the district put on quite a show for the crowd.

First place honors and a $100 prize went to Carole Ferguson, Miss Texarkana. Second place was Mary Ann Hall of Hope; third place, Betty Joyce Dyer of Nashville and the next two were Betty Galloway of Stamps and Dot Callanen of Little Rock.

Other entries were Harriet Lindsay of Mena, Connie Trammel of Ashdown, Linda Vaughn of Malvern, Martha Nell Pry of Prescott, Shirley Ann Buchanan of Camden, Joyce Lenderman of Mt. Ida, Mickey Lambert of El Dorado, Carol Hignight, Murreboro and Mary Margaret Hixon of Arkansas.

Crowd Quiet as Officers Arrest Five

LITTLE ROCK, Mo. — A quiet crowd of about 200 white men and women watched Central High School today at class time with a placed detachment that contrasted strangely with the wild mob of yesterday.

No Negro students had shown at 8:30 a.m. and no incidents reported. Early today five white men were picked up by police and later two youths identified by officers as North Little Rock High School students were taken into custody.

The "turf" nabbing of agitators seemed to have a dampening effect on the crowd.

Police said blows were struck in the main street gang fight but apparently no one was hurt seriously. The incident occurred at a drive-in cafe — a hangout for white teenagers.

One white man Dan Dinkins, 47, was tested for lacerations of the face and a depressed skull "fracture" after being hit on the head by a falling rock. His condition was not serious.

Reports that a 50-car cavalcade was forming in downtown Little Rock were described by officers as "just a bunch of kids." They broke it up.

Between 5 and 10 Negroes were arrested Police said. They reported no arrests of white men.

Negroes, armed with all types of weapons, including pistols and razor blades are attacking whites "throwing rocks, breaking car windshields, and throwing bottles into doors of houses" an officer said.

Newsman who drove by car through Negro districts found them uniformly dark and silent. Where a house was lit the lights were switched off at the approach of the car.

The picture today, after yesterday's flareups of fighting in front of Central High School, was this:

1. President Eisenhower took a drastic and rarely used executive action, signing a proclamation entitled "Obstruction of Justice in the State of Arkansas." The key sentence read, in part: "Now therefore I, Dwight D. Eisenhower, president of the United States, do command all persons on...

Federal Troops Slated to March Later in Day

By ROBERT E. CLERK
NEWPORT, R. I. (INS) — President Eisenhower today ordered federal troops into Little Rock to enforce school segregation.

Troops are expected to enter Little Rock later today to take up position around strife-torn Central High School.

The President directed Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to order the Arkansas National Guard into federal service immediately and use it or any other units of the armed forces to control the situation.

Mr. Eisenhower simultaneously scheduled a 15-minute radio-television address to the nation for about 7 p. m. (CST) to discuss the integration crisis.

He is flying back to Washington from Newport to make the address which will be delivered from the White House.

The chief executive signed the history-making order in his office at the Newport Naval Base at 12:22 p. m. (EDT).

He noted despite the fact that there were no new outbreaks of violence at Central High School when classes resumed this morning after an angry mob had forced the removal of eight Negro students Monday.

But, the President noted that his proclamation of Monday ordering an end to "willful obstruction" of integration was violated when a crowd of some 300 gathered at the school today.

In his new proclamation he declared that "willful obstruction of enforcement" of the federal court order for integration "still exists and threatens to continue."

Mr. Eisenhower directed that the National Guard should "serve in the active military service of the United States for an indefinite period and until relieved by appropriate orders."

His directive applies to both the Arkansas National Guard and the Arkansas Air National Guard.

Before issuing the proclamation, the President conferred by telephone with Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, Army chief of staff.

It was the first time a president of the United States had ordered federal troops into a state to enforce a court order since 1914 when Woodrow Wilson called out military forces during coal mine disturbances in Arkansas.

The National Guard was employed by Gov. Orval Faubus to bar Negro students from entering the school until its removal was ordered by Federal Judge Ronald Davies last Friday.

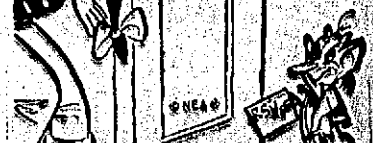

In taking his action Mr. Eisenhower...

DOROTHY DIX

CHARM-BRACELET GIRL LOVES BOOKISH MAN

Dear Dorothy Dix: My birthday was last week. Instead of the charm bracelet for which I had hinted several weeks, my fiancé presented me with a book of poems — by his favorite poet. He says he had always pictured himself reading these poems with his wife. It just so happens I had never pictured myself reading anything with him.

I don't care about books; he thinks of nothing else. He has quite a collection of them, and already I'm trying to figure out a tactful way of telling him they don't fit into my idea of interior decoration. Can you help me out?

Dear Nancy: I could help you out of a very miserable marriage by advising you to terminate the engagement. Return the book of poems and the ring at the same time. Does your fiancé have any feeling for you? Or have you, perchance, led him to believe you like them? This is the only answer I can find as to how you two got together in the first place.

A bookish young man and a charm-bracelet girl make an odd combination. The only way you two might be happy is for you to acknowledge the fact that the only poet you can understand is Ogden Nash, and the only books you'd recognize by name are those made into movies. Then, be real big and tell your fiancé you'll take very good care of his books, even though you can't share an interest in them. Incidentally, did you know that books are becoming quite the thing as home decorations?

Last but not least, try reading-aloud. It may not be as hard to do as you imagine.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a high-school junior, fairly popular with boys. The boys I like best doesn't think I should talk to anyone else. We argue about it all the time. I don't like to quarrel, but I can't ignore the others, can I?

Dear Doris: Don't dignify your boy friend's jealousy by arguing about it. Tell him flatly he has no strings on you and you're a free agent to talk to anyone. It would certainly be impolite and impolitic to ignore your classmates.

Dear Dorothy Dix: We've just moved into a new house. The girl next door is my own age (14) and mother thinks I should make a friend of her. She doesn't have the same interests I do. How can I convince my mother we aren't congenial?

Dear Paula: You can't expect exactly compatible tastes from everyone you meet, but it certainly seems foolish to discount the possibility of friendship next door just because your interests aren't identical. Give the girl a chance.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a secretary in my early 20's (single) and the only girl in our office. Due to the nature of our business, my boss makes frequent trips to different parts of the country. While he's away he usually sends me a gift or brings one back. I have accepted these gifts, believing they are his way of saying "thank you" for taking good care of the business in his absence. A friend of mine feels I am being naive and says it isn't proper to accept gifts from a married man.

Dear Terry: I'd have the same feeling about the gifts that you do. Since they have never been costly or personal, you're perfectly safe in accepting them for what they are — souvenirs of your employer's travels. Some folks have a knack of putting evil interpretations on every action. Be wary, but don't become suspicious of every kind or appreciative deed.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 17 years old and for two years have been going with Randy, a wonderful boy who would give me the world on a golden platter if he could. My mother thinks the world of him, too, and would be heart broken if we broke up. I'm beginning to feel that I'm too young for steady dating, and I'm afraid I'm getting tired of Randy. How can I possibly break off with him under the circumstances?

Dear Connie: A dreamboat like Randy shouldn't be set adrift completely. You know, if you lost him, you'd have a case of second sight that would be something. Then you'd write something like this: "I thought I didn't like him until I lost him. Now I'd give anything to get him back." That's one of the recurring lines in my mail.

Fighter planes have become so complicated that it now requires about one million engineering hours to get such a plane into actual production. In 1940 a similar task required only 17,000 man hours.

In the past five years more than one million persons have deserted farms in Japan for city jobs.

Talent Show
Preceding the beauty pageant was the 4-H Clubs Share the Fun talent show. Earlier yesterday 11 finalists were selected from 25 entries. All the youngsters were guests of the livestock show at a banquet last night. The winner of the talent division was trio of Sharon, Ronnie and Robin Meeks of Garland County. They received a trophy. Other finalists were: Tap Dance, Vera Mae McJunkins of Miller County, Piano and vocal by Shirley Halten of Clark; Guitar and song, Leland Jones of Polk; Pantomime, Roxanna Miller of Garland; Vocal, Anita Hardin with Sharon Clark at the piano, Clark; Novelly act.

Federal Troops

hower disregarded the contention of Faubus that he has no authority to order federal troops into Little Rock without the governor's approval.

The President acted under his constitutional powers and federal statutes authorizing him to use the armed forces in such cases.

Mr. Eisenhower plans to take off from Quonset Naval Air Station for Washington shortly after 3:30 p. m. (EDT). He will return to Newport early Wednesday morning.

Presidential News Secretary James C. Hagerty emphasized that the primary reason for the President's decision to make the address from the White House was mechanical. He was advised by the networks that transmission difficulties would arise in Newport.

The President signed his proclamation today in the presence of Hagerty, Capt. E. F. Aurand his naval aide and Mrs. Anne Whitman his personal secretary.

Hagerty took the document directly to a newsroom in a nearby building where a tense corps of reporters was waiting.

Mr. Eisenhower warned Monday that he could never permit the orders of a federal court to be flouted with impunity by any individual or any mob of extremists.

His subsequent action brings a dramatic end to the careful course of moderation he has steered since the 1954 Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools.

Only two months ago, he told a news conference that he could not conceive of any circumstances which would ever cause him to order federal troops to enforce the rulings of a federal court.

At that time Mr. Eisenhower said he could not conceive that the "common sense of America" would ever require such action.

gaged in such obstruction of justice to cease and desist therefrom and to disperse forthwith.

That raised the question whether federal troops might be sent into Arkansas to take over from the beleaguered Little Rock police and state troopers.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President's proclamation clears the way for such action — and that the next step is to wait and see if the cease-and-desist order is obeyed in Little Rock.

In Sea Island, Ga., however, Gov. Orval Faubus said the Constitution prescribes that federal forces cannot be sent into a state "except on the request of the governor of a sovereign state."

"I don't plan to make any such request," Faubus said.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, president of the Arkansas division of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Negro pupils would not attempt again to enter Central High School without assurances of adequate protection from the President.

Mrs. Bates said she was "gratified" by Eisenhower's reclamation.

Linda Lou Garden, Joe Sims, Sandra Littlejohn, Janice Cornett, Elhel Mangnas, Nelda Brooks, Miller; Song and tap, Caron Ann Stewart, Ann Welch, Jeanie Cobb, Glna Evans, Little River; Pantomime, Jerry Bush, Joan Willis, Ronnie and Sandy Burke, Mike Samuel and Becky Willis of Hempstead; vocal Sandra Cowling with Janice Nutt at the piano, Howard; Dance, Iona Baker, Sevier.

Other Activities
Wednesday will mark the judging of Junior Swine and Poultry, N. F. A. and Negro 4-H Livestock and Dairy Judging contests.

The final performance of the radio and TV stage show will be held Wednesday night at 8 in the Coliseum.

Thursday the second phase of the Stock show will get underway with a western parade. The final three nights the Coliseum will feature the famous Gene Madison rodeo.

but "a little more assurance would be necessary" before the pupils are advised to return.

That seemed to indicate that, for the time being, the nine pupils would not go back to Central High.

The aftermath of yesterday's violence stirred a storm of statements and counterstatements. "We are a disgraced city because of a handful of people," said Mayor Woodrow Wilson Mann.

Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon, in charge during Faubus' absence, said he would recall the National Guard to restore order with out a written request from Mann because, he said, he would not "take Mann's word for anything."

Yesterday to be polite I said his statement was not correct. Today I say he is a liar.

This referred to a report, denied later by the mayor that he had asked Gordon for help from the National Guard. Mann said — during the earlier stages of the dispute in Little Rock — that he knew of no threat of violence over integration and that it was unnecessary for Faubus to call out the troops.

At Sea Island, Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland, a Republican, fired a blast at Faubus.

"Gov. Faubus wrote the book 'metal club' — and assault with a set the stage and directed the play for today's unhappy occurrences in Arkansas. He gave the cues to his players in screaming headlines predicting violence," he said.

Faubus, from the Governor's Conference issued a statement to the people of Little Rock: "Do not under any circumstances attempt to take the law into your hands or use any methods except lawful means."

Virgil Blossom, superintendent of schools, gave a description of events inside the high school yesterday after the nine Negro students entered which coincided with reports by the Negroes themselves — minor scuffling.

White students who came out reported seeing Negroes with blood on their clothes and told tall stories of taking one Negro boy by the arm and forcibly "walking him half the length of a corridor in an attempt to get him out the door."

Terrance Roberts, 15, one of the Negroes said he was "pushed around" but not harmed. A white girl said there was "very little trouble at all."

Officers at U. S. military bases near Little Rock denied that personnel had been put on alert to move into Little Rock.

5 Crewmen Saved From German Ship

LONDON (AP) — Five crewmen of the German sailing ship Pamir were rescued yesterday from a leaking lifeboat. They said no more than 25 others could have survived.

They reported only one other lifeboat loaded with 25 crewmen — put away when disaster struck Saturday in the Atlantic. The Pamir carried a crew of 86.

Their report spurred a search by 10 ships in the stormy area 550 miles southwest of the Azores. It was a race with the violent sea. The five men said high waves washed five of their comrades overboard to their deaths only a short time before a U.S. freighter came out of the muck to save them.

Orange-colored lights and flares were spotted earlier in the day, leading to hope that the other lifeboat still was afloat.

The five survivors were found by the 725-ton Isbrandstuen Lines freighter Saxon. The Saxon radioed they were in fair condition despite the buffeting.

They were transferred last night to the Military Sea Transport Service ship Geiger for medical treatment. They will be taken to Casablanca.

Lt. Governor Holds Medal of Honor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The man who heads the Arkansas state government while Gov. Orval Faubus is in Sea Island Ga., is a Medal of Honor winner.

He is Lt. Gov. Nathan G. Gordon. 40. Gordon won the nation's highest award for piloting a Navy Catalina flying boat which stole 15 American airmen from under Japanese guns in World War II.

The other nine crewmen of the craft won Silver Stars for the exploit.

His family long has been in politics after coming to Arkansas in 1840. He was practicing law when he entered the navy in June 1941. He attended high school at Morrilton Ark., his home and also attended Columbia (Tenn.) Military academy (1931-33). Gordon studied at Arkansas Tech University for 5 semesters. Then he went on to the University of Arkansas where he played end on the football team.

Gordon set his big Catalina down in Kavieng Harbor, New Ireland Feb. 15, 1944. The harbor had heavy waves and the flying boat sprung many rivets. The airmen in rubber survival rafts, paddled to the boat. The Catalina was named the Arkansas Traveler.

They were transferred last night to the Military Sea Transport Service ship Geiger for medical treatment. They will be taken to Casablanca.

White students who came out reported seeing Negroes with blood on their clothes and told tall stories of taking one Negro boy by the arm and forcibly "walking him half the length of a corridor in an attempt to get him out the door."

"LITTLE BIG INCH" GOES BACK TO SERVICE as petroleum products pipeline

Texas Eastern's "Little Big Inch" (20-inch) pipeline is returning to the vital job it did during World War II... the efficient, economical transportation of clean petroleum products.

Eleven hundred and sixty-eight miles of the "Little Big Inch" from Baytown, Texas, to Moundsville, West Virginia, is being reconverted from natural gas transmission to the original service for which it was built. This portion of the line is to become part of a 1700-mile system that will include a 230-mile (14-inch) lateral from Seymour, Indiana, to Chicago, now nearing completion.

The new "Little Big Inch" system will be the longest large diameter common carrier of petroleum products in the United States. It will connect the world's largest refining capacity (refineries in the Gulf Coast, East Texas, North Louisiana, South Arkansas and Mid-Continent areas) with markets in 13 Midwestern and Southern states.

The "Little Big Inch" system will deliver all grades of aviation and motor gasoline, kerosene, heating oils, diesel and jet engine fuels, and liquefied butane and propane... and do it regularly, on schedule regardless of weather, and at a substantial saving over other transportation methods.

New facilities will assure continuing deliveries of supplies of natural gas to all of Texas Eastern's customers who are presently being served through the "Little Big Inch" pipeline system. In addition, new construction will increase the delivery capacity of Texas Eastern's 5900-mile natural gas transmission system to over 1,744,000,000 cubic feet per day by year end.

VFW Auxiliary Meeting

The Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars met Wednesday night at the Hut. During the business session plans were formulated for a larger and improved hospital program locally, and for Ft. Roots.

For five years, Ramsey Cargile Auxiliary have sponsored a monthly ward birthday party at Ft. Roots. Plans were completed for the fall membership drive.

Following the business session the members sorted and stacked around 2,000 X-Ray cards made in Hempstead County in August.

The change in meeting date was moved from the first and third Tuesday to the first and third Wednesday for the next few months.

Hempstead county cancer dressings. With deepest thanks to the wonderful response to the request for clean worn sheets. The supply is plentiful now, but do keep in mind the call could go out any time for more. To date this year, womens church groups and clubs have made over three thousand cancer dressings, two dozen draw sheets, 10 doz. disposable bed pads and 6 doz. washable pads. All this is a county service of the Hempstead County Cancer Association and the many volunteer workers furnished free to the patients.

Brookwood Sixth Grade News

The Brookwood sixth grade got off to a big start with 33 pupils enrolled, two being new in Hope.

Football co-captains, Paul Henley and Mack McLarty; Junior Fire Marshall, Paul Raddolph.

In the football game last Thursday Brookwood defeated Patsley 36-0 Brookwood vs. Oglesby at Brookwood this week.

The sixth grade won the room count at the first P. T. A. meeting. Room mothers for this year are, Mrs. Leonard Ellis, Mrs. Graydon Anthony and Mrs. William Butler. Reporter-Paul Henley.

Oglesby School Observes Constitution Week

Constitution week was observed throughout Oglesby School last week.

The primary grades repeated the pledge of Allegiance, read the history of the flag and reviewed the flag rules.

The elementary grades made a study of the Constitution, the three main branches of the U. S. Government.

New patriotic songs were learned, choral readings practiced and a general discussion was held on our democratic form of government.

Oglesby Sixth Grade News

The Sixth Grade of Oglesby School held their regular weekly club meeting Friday afternoon in the sixth grade room, with Al Weisenberger, President, presiding.

Phala Brown, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and Ann Arnold, Treasurer, gave the treasurer's report.

A program was presented with the following members participating: Phala Brown, Ann Arnold, Bill Land, Jackie Lloyd, Jimmy Walker, Joe Hargis, Gwen Partner. The club voted to name the club for the school football team, "The Wolverines." Reporter-Sherry Burke.

Hope Federation Luncheon

The Hope Federation of Garden Clubs annual luncheon was held Thursday September 19 at Hotel Barlow, with Mrs. C. V. Nunn, Jr., President, presiding.

Mrs. W. H. Oberthier, President of the Texarkana Council of Garden Clubs, was the guest speaker and presented a floral arrangement demonstration and lecture. The arrangements which she made were presented as door prizes to Mrs. R. V. Herndon, Jr., Mrs. Jack Hogg, Mrs. Harold Brenits, Mrs. Roy Stephenson, Mrs. H. O. Kyles, and Mrs. Harold Stephens.

Carrying out the luncheon theme of "Holidays," the Lilac Garden Club won first place with its Valentine table. Second place winner was the Daffodil Garden Club with a Halloween arrangement. The Fourth of July arrangement made by the Iris Garden Club won third place.

Preceding the program, Mrs. Nunn introduced the Federation officers and committee chairmen who are: Vice President, Mrs. Jack Hogg; Secretary, Mrs. Ralph Lehman, Jr.; Treasurer, Mrs. Lex Helms, Jr.; Parliamentarian, Mrs. R. L. Broach Awards Committee.

India Locks Votes To Admit China

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The General Assembly is expected today to sidetrack until next year the question of seating Communist China in the U. N.

Delegates generally foresaw that the Assembly would adopt a U. S. resolution late today on recommendation of its Steering Committee.

Indian sources conceded that India lacked the votes to get the Chinese representation issue on the agenda.

Nationalist Chinese Delegate K. W. Yu told a reporter his delegation calculated perhaps 50 delegations will vote for the U. S. The vote last year was 47-24 with 8 abstentions.

The U. S. resolution, which cleared the Steering Committee 9-4 with 2 abstentions Thursday, rejected the Indian request. It said the Assembly would consider no proposals this session to elect Nationalist or seat Communist China.

John Diefenbaker, Canada's new prime minister, chose the Assembly's morning meeting as the occasion for his first major foreign policy speech.

The Hudson River was given its name in 1674. Before that it had been named the San Antonio River and the Maurilius River.

Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Herndon Jr., of Hope, Arkansas announce the

Edsel

Toletouch Drive

lets you shift without lifting a hand from the wheel

You can drive the Edsel—park it—reverse it—rock it—while both hands stay at the wheel. For Edsel's exclusive Toletouch Drive puts the shift controls right where they belong: in the center of the steering wheel.

And all shifting, even into park position, is effortless, because the Edsel actually shifts itself. The Toletouch Drive button you touch signals a rugged, precision "brain," and it does the work—smoothly, surely, electrically.

You'll find the entire Edsel is as original and advanced as Toletouch. The Edsel's elegant lines, its vertical grille and low, wide flight deck promise you that. And the big Edsel V-8's—newest in the world—prove it beyond a doubt. See your Edsel Dealer for a road-test. Edsel prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series, 18 models.

Took a Long Time But The Braves Did It

By ED WILKS
Of The Associated Press

Milwaukee's long bageere Braves finally did it. And they did it big. These "choke ups" Braves, snatching a 4-2 victory in the 11th inning last night from second-place St. Louis the one club they had to beat. Hank Aaron's two-run, two-out homer was the blow that rapped up the National League pennant and set up a World Series date with the New York Yankees.

Almost overlooked was the fact that the Braves, who slumped and lagged after gaining a whopping 8 1/2-game lead on Labor Day built a seven-game winning streak under pressure to nail their first pennant since 1948.

At the clinching, they had a six-game bulge with five to play.

The Yankees made it while most of the Bombers were taking a busman's holiday at Yankee Stadium watching the middleweight championship fight while the Kansas City Athletics eliminated Chicago's White Sox 6-5.

That defeat left the White Sox 6 1/2 games behind with six to play. It was Aaron who set the pace for the Braves' comeback from a worrisome, 11-game batting slump in which their lead over Cards was whittled to 2 1/2. Aaron batted only .220 (9 for 41) in that mess, but started a nine-game streak that included a .500 spur 14 for 38 in the Braves' seven straight victories.

The homer was Henry's 43rd, regaining the major league lead from Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs. It followed a single by Johnny Logan sandwiched between a pair of flies by Red Schoendienst and Eddie Mathews off relief loser Billy Muffet.

A single by Schoendienst, the ex-Card, and a double by Mathews gave the Braves a 2-all tie in the seventh against Larry Jackson the Cards' second pitcher. Jackson, who relieved starter Wilmer Mizell with the bases loaded, none out and a run home in the second and got out of the jam had been staked to a 2-1 lead in the sixth as Al Dark tagged Lew Burdette for a two-run single.

Burdette was lifted in the 10th for a pinch hitter. Gene Conley took over for a hitless 11th, winning his ninth in 16 decisions.

Oddly, it was St. Louis that threw a block to Milwaukee's 1936 pennant bid beating the Braves on the next to last day of the race.

While the Braves were gaining their first pennant since shifting from Boston to Milwaukee in 1953, the Yankees were winning their eighth in nine years under Manager Casey Stengel.

A pair of ex-Yankees did it for the A's. Bob Cerv got the tie-breaking run home with a sacrifice fly in the eighth after Minnie Miñoso, who homered for Chicago's first run, brought the White Sox even with a two-run single in the seventh. Woody Held another ex-Yank, Alex Kellner and Gus Zernial also homered for the A's.

Jim McDonald was the loser in relief with Annie Portocarrero the winner, also in relief.

In the other AL games Boston whipped Washington 9-4 and Cleveland tripped Detroit 5-4 in 11 innings. Ted Williams was 1-for-1 for the Red Sox upping his AL-leading average to .385 and padding his string of trips to the plate without being retired to 18. He walked three times, was hit by a pitch on his last trip.

Cardinal Stan Musial was 3-for-4 pushing his NL-leading bat mark to 349.

A single by rookie Dick Brown, and third hit, won it for the Tribe. Brown also homered along with Roger Maris and Rocky Colavito.

No other games were scheduled.

Floats and the Winners in Monday's Stock Show Parade

Thirteen of the 16 photographs on this page were made by Hope Star yesterday just before the 2:30 p.m. parade which opened the Third District Livestock Show.

The other three pictures are re-runs of Star photos made during the Nevada County Fair parade at Prescott September 18. In three instances pictures are missing on prize-winners — two second-places and a fourth-place. This is due to the fact the newspaper had to confine its pictures to floats, omitting decorated cars — because of the sheer number of photographs required.

CIVIC FLOATS WINNER — The Prescott Business & Professional Women's float won in Hope Monday — just as it was the over-all winner at Prescott September 18.

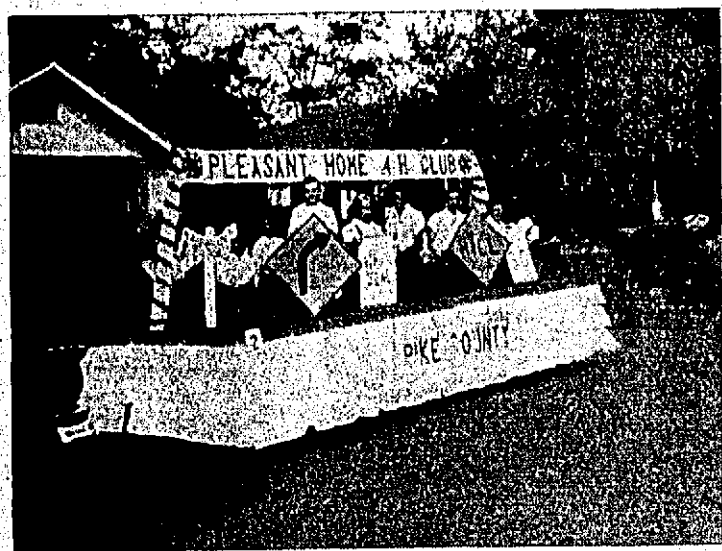

NO. 3 CIVIC FLOAT — The Hope Lions Club. The No. 2 winner was the Terra-Firma Garden Club of Nashville, of which there is no picture.

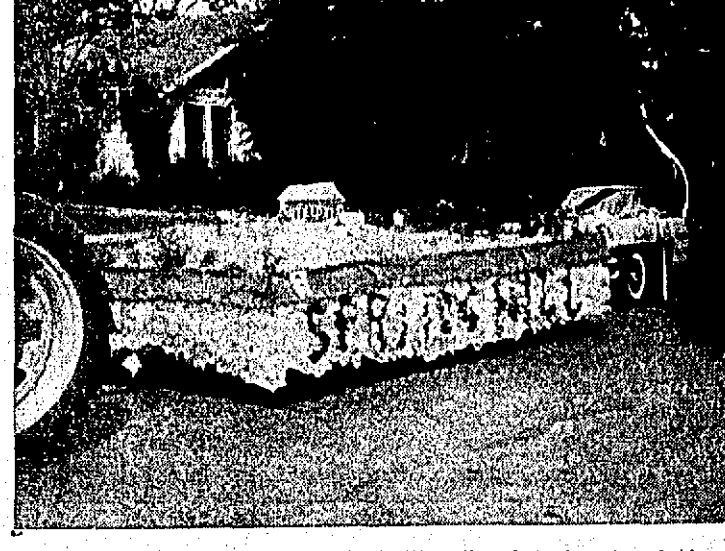

NO. 4 CIVIC FLOAT — The Hope Kiwanis Club

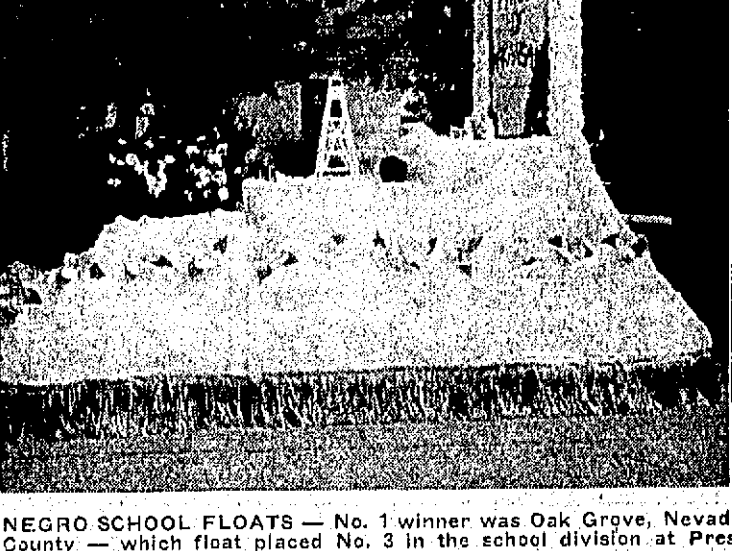

NO. 1 SCHOOL FLOAT — Laneburg school of Nevada County

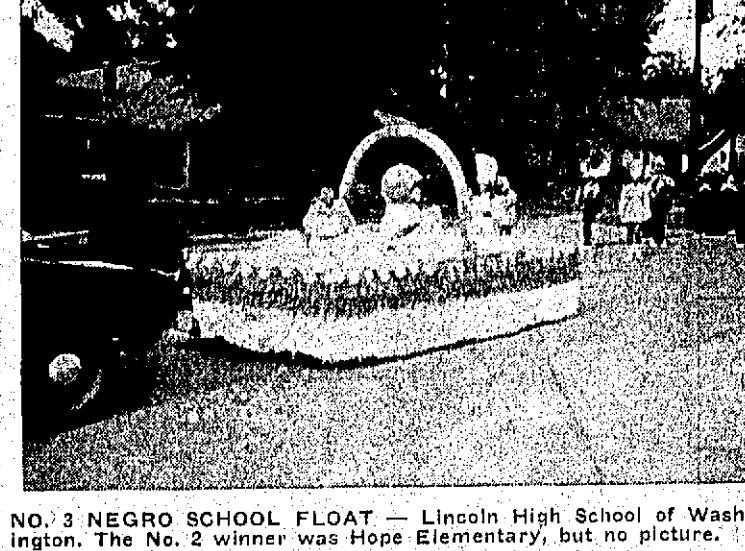

NO. 2 SCHOOL FLOAT — Pleasant Home 4-H Club, Pike County.

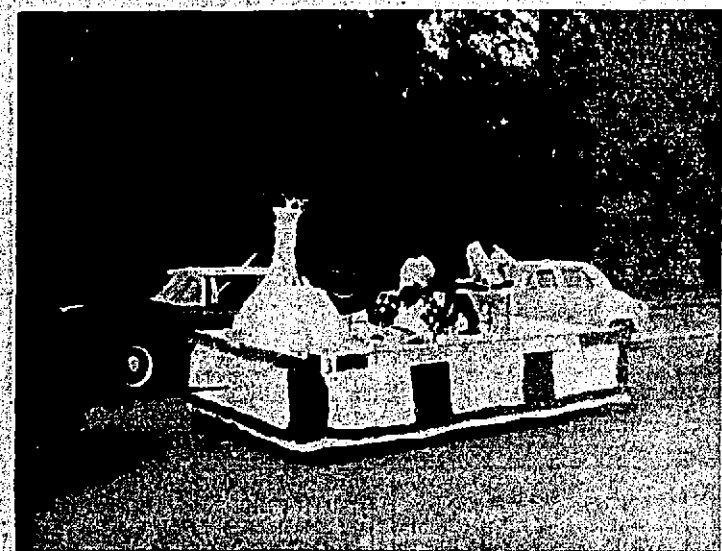

NO. 3 SCHOOL FLOAT — Spring Hill. The Cub Scouts of Hope placed No. 4, but no picture.

NEGRO SCHOOL FLOATS — No. 1 winner was Oak Grove, Nevada County — which float placed No. 3 in the school division at Prescott September 18.

NO. 3 NEGRO SCHOOL FLOAT — Lincoln High School of Washington. The No. 2 winner was Hope Elementary, but no picture.

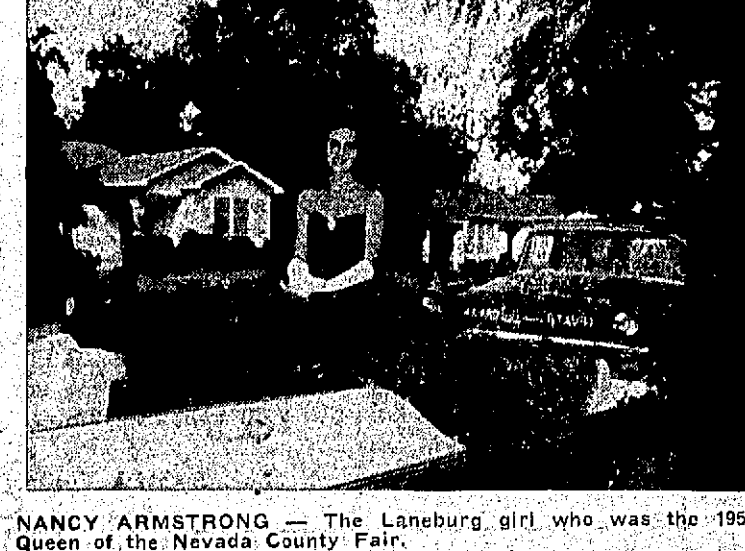

ANOTHER SCHOOL FLOAT — Hope's Yerger High School.

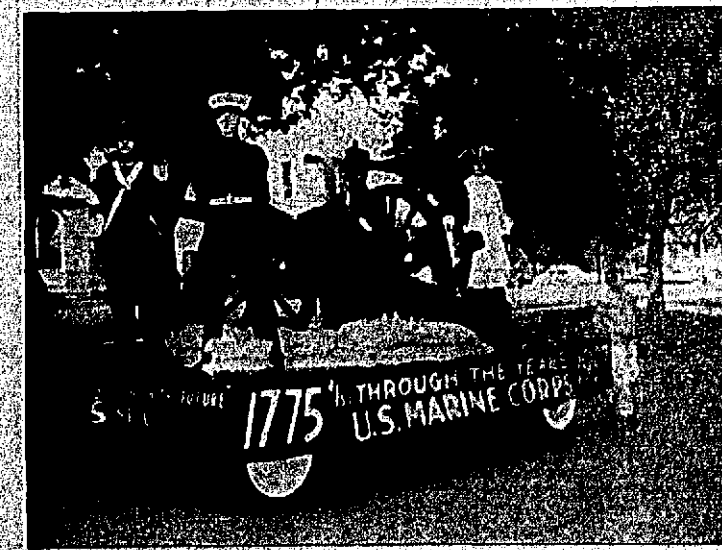

HOPE B.P.W. CLUB FLOAT, front view — Jones Floyd and Mrs. Mary Tollett and the old covered wagon.

NANCY ARMSTRONG — The Laneburg girl who was the 1936 Queen of the Nevada County Fair.

U.S. MARINES — From Texarkana.

GILBERT DANES' PONIES.

BYERS' PONIES — Owned by Orrle and Raymond Byers.

PONY AND YOUNGSTERS — The children of Mrs. Jess Morris and Mrs. Roy Collier.

CHAPTER XXVI

Toni shrugged. "Not much use in my denying it now, is there? All right, I did go down to see Melville that afternoon. I intended to call his bluff, get the painting from him, and tell him that if he approached my uncle's wife again I'd go to the police. I was too late. When I got there he was dead and his body was lying on the pavement. I had to get that picture as soon as possible — and I did get it that night. After I got it, Gillespie admitted to breaking it to pieces and burning it in the fireplace in my uncle's apartment later that evening."

Gillespie admitted to breaking and "smothering" much else he knew. At the moment the Scotsman wasn't personally interested in these particular breaches of his law. What he was after was a killer.

What had been surprise as now proven fact, Melville was firmly established as a blackmailer. In addition, the killer was there in Cornwall, or had been until three weeks that morning. Check on any departures and investigate the seven other men and women who had been in New York when Melville died.

Look for husband, Lisa. Hadn't killed anyone. Channing 1934 was a public figure, a man with a high reputation for integ-

ity. McKee told her that he could promise nothing until he didn't think, for the present anyhow, they would have to trouble her husband.

Sarah Casement didn't leave with McKee. She was staying on at the cottage. Driving down the hill alone in darkness, McKee thought about her. She was in love with Gillespie. She had been knocked for a loop when she caught sight of those two in each other's arms. Gillespie had gotten out of that one. What didn't seem to strike Miss Casement as odd — and what seemed to him peculiar, to say the least — was that Gillespie had done so much, no for his uncle but for the beautiful lady who was his uncle's wife.

Crystabel Dolwin put on rouge and lipstick, added earrings, bracelets, a necklace, salivated in a dry throat, stepped out into the hall — and became a different woman, jangling, varnished, beaming, earnest and well-intentioned.

"Inspector McKee from New York? This is an honor, Inspector. Unless — has poor little me done something wrong? I hope I didn't keep you waiting?"

McKee reflected that she was almost too good to be true. She had been in New York when Grant Melville died, she had been on Tenth Street when Zita Warren announced her return to the city by calling down from her window; she had been here in Cornwall when Dennert was killed. But so had a number of other people. Now for Miss Dolwin's whereabouts when the attack on Miss Warren as made the previous Friday.

"Where I was last Friday, Inspector?"

"Yes, Miss Dolwin. You see, some question has arisen about Dennert, when he actually came here to Cornwall. There have been some conflicting statements, and we want to know the whereabouts of everyone in the vicinity on that date."

She thought, finger to her lips, brow corrugated, battling her lashes. Triumph. "But that was the day I came up from New York."

Felix Satterlee was in process of setting a small table drawn to the hearth when McKee arrived, and Diana Satterlee was reading a novel, lying back in an armchair, her feet on a pouf.

"You've come about Grant, Inspector? We only heard last night. I'm afraid we can't be of any assistance to you. We've talked it over and we can't think of a single thing. There just doesn't seem to be any reason why anyone should kill Grant."

McKee stopped him. "I'm afraid that someone had a very good reason indeed for killing your former husband, Mr. Satterlee. Without going into detail, he told me about Grant Melville's blackmailing activities."

Shock, horror, disgust and loathing — they were both astounded. It was difficult to believe Grant a blackmailer!

McKee didn't waste time. Any one of these people he was interviewing could have killed Melville and Dennert; it was the previous Friday and the attack on it a Warren that were important.

"Where were we last Friday?" The Satterlees told him and he wrote.

The Scotman's introduction to the Brown Cottage was not propitious. He narrowly missed being hit with a cat.

The cat whistled past the Satterlees' shoulder and landed with a thump. The door slammed. McKee liked cats. He called to it in the dark, but it probably wasn't much hurt, the ground was soft. It walked on, sobbing came from behind the door now and a woman cried, "You brute. You horrible brute. Poor Minnie."

"She scratched me. Look at that look at it —"

"Where did you get that money, Bob? You tell me you have none for the milkman, and then I put my hand in your pocket."

"I won it yesterday on a long shot."

"I want some of it. Keep away from me. Don't you dare come near me."

(To Be Continued)

The first complete Chinese version of the Goran has just been completed. It required Prof. Shih Chieh-chou, a devout Moslem, eight years to do the translation of the sacred script of the Moham-medan faith.

In 1933 Sweden imported 570 tons of fruit and berry juices from the United States, but in 1934 those imports jumped to 5,000 tons.

Criticism Of TV Believed Unfair

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Frank Baxter, television's busiest teacher, feels a lot of current criticism of TV is unfair.

"There is a tendency too often to criticize something on the air not for what it is, but because it is not what someone expected it to be," he asserts.

The solution says the eminent educator is "selective viewing."

"The University of Southern California professor who first rocked to attention by parlaying Shakespeare into parlor excellence is now embarked on his 'saturation season' of exposure on the network."

The Baxter agenda includes this of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hubbard, was the winner in the baby doll division of the doll contest sponsored by Phyllis of Arkansas and Seventeen magazine. The winning dolls will go to national judging.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Worthington and sons, Jimmy and Jerry, moved into their newly decorated home on East Elm Street Thursday that they recently purchased from Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Arnold Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Harvey announce the birth of a daughter on September 18th at the Corn Donnell Hospital who has been named Laurie Candice.

Approximately 186 of every 1,000 college graduates today are scientists or engineers.

Season: Tuesday night ABC network appearances as meritos. of a new dramatic series; four "Dr. research" 90-minute film programs on NBC; a weekly live half-hour colorcast in Los Angeles called "Harvest" that lets him range across human enterprise from Hadrian's Wall to Rodin's art.

In addition, three of his previous conversation series are being used on the 25-station cross-country educational network. All this plus 10 hours weekly of classroom work.

"Many more people hunger for a little more knowledge than is usually thought," he says.

"I'd like to be thought of as a man who fumbled toward pursuing the networks and people that there can be fun in this field of activity."

Baxter, who is 62 and has but three more years of university activity before retirement, is busy with other ideas for further TV pioneering.

Most of all, he would like to embark on a living expedition that would take him to the banks of the Mississippi for reading of Mark Twain, to Walden Pond for study of Thoreau, to a Wessex village for examination of Hardy novels.

"It would be no travelogue," he explains, "but would insulate a sense of how these things these heritages of us all, grew out of the dust of a very particular place."
